PA NEW OBSERVES

Ben Campbell, 29 North Lee avenue, reports having the first ripe tomato on his vines. Campbell states that it is still hanging on the vine.

There will be no red delicious cherries at the home of William McChesney, Sampson street, this year. McChesney reports that the recent wind storm the early part of this week, split the large cherry tree on his property. The tree was heavily laden with green fruit, which was scattered about the ground.

Bordering the Willow Grove road, in the Seventh Ward district, is a mile of the district's most attractive well-planned and planted gardens. The vegetables in these plots are now just peeping through the ground, and present a pleasing sight to passing motorists.

It is an unusual hobby of Frank Tamburini's but one that does a lot of good for small birds in this county. Mr. Tamburini is a hawk killer and in the past two weeks has killed a large number of the predatory birds. On Friday he exhibited 14 of them which he had gotten, four of them were young ones with the down still on.

Adolf Lang reported today that while driving to his shop at 5 a. m. today he saw a buck deer at Moody avenue and Mercer street. He kept circling the buck around North Hill streets until he drove the buck, which seemed very tired, up North Mercer street when it turned left in a field toward Wilmington avenue.

One of Pa New's boys is hunting his hat this morning, having left it somewhere yesterday. It was not much of a hat, being a dark, faded blue, but it was useful in keeping the rain off his head.

At Age Of 77 After Long Illness

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 19.—To the man whose little boy would not grow older came death from a lingering illness today, and the world of art and letters mourns the passing of Sir James Barrie, creator of the immortal Peter Pan. He was 77. Pneumonia complicated by the infirmities of age closed the career of the writer who shared with George Bernard Shaw the title of the greatest playwright of the age. A few years ago Barrie fell ill and his life was nearly despaired of, but he recovered and until the last attack of a few weeks ago, he was active in the theatre world where his name has long been a byword. So long as children play, the memory of Sir James Matthew Barrie will be kept alive and fresh through Peter Pan, the eternally youthful, immortal child of his imagination.

He was a young man when he wrote this play and the fame it gained him never was duplicated in his lifetime. His car ruined almost beyond repair, Edwin O. Reed, welfare officer for Lawrence county, escaped death miraculously Friday when he was hit by a Baker Driveway trailer truck near Kittanning street bridge in Butler. HARRISBURG, June 19.—Gov. George H. Earle today declared martial law in Johnstown strike area, and ordered the state police and highway patrol to take over the city. The governor did not send National Guard troops to the scene, however.

He ordered Col. A. S. Janeway, to proceed to Johnstown immediately and take over the combined forces of state police and highway patrol and:

1. Disarm all vigilantes.
2. Shut down and evacuate the strike-harassed Bethlehem Steel Corporation plant.
3. Take over all police duties in Johnstown, and, if Mayor Daniel Shields should not place his police at the state's disposal, to force the local police to cease functioning.

Orders Police Heads To Scene

The chief executive also ordered Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police and Capt. E. J. Henry, acting chief of the highway patrol to proceed to Johnstown immediately and marshal as much of their forces as possible to the scene. A Major Adams said 140 state troopers are on duty in Johnstown at present and that he could muster approximately 60 more, while Capt. Henry said he probably could send a force totalling 300 highway patrolmen.

The governor announced he had decided to declare martial law in view of the refusal of Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, to close the Johnstown plant.

"Mr. Grace has refused to accede to my request to close down the Bethlehem steel plant at Johnstown," declared the governor. Sheriff Boyd has confirmed the report that 40,000 miners are coming here Sunday to stage a demonstration. With the plant open the condition would, in his opinion, be a powder magazine which would explode at any moment, causing great bloodshed.

There may be dust storms in the west, the drought may scar the grain, but farmers here are spared all that, its business just the same. For rains have soaked the cabages and meadows ooze and squish, and in the lower forty plot the corn is near awash. The wells and springs are running full, the pump is doing fine, and so today we rise to say the weather's seventy nine, and there is little chance I think of drought or dust storms here, in fact we wish the rain would stop and let the skates be clear.

Postpone Breakfast.

The breakfast planned for Monday morning at Cascade park by the Ministers Wives club has been postponed.

FEDERATION PARTY AT RAINBOW TERRACE

Decidedly different, new and ideal as a place for holding matinee warm weather social functions, is Rainbow Terrace at Cascade Park.

This the Federation of Women's clubs proved Friday afternoon when they sponsored the first affair of the kind at the park, and it was highly successful, over 200 women attending in spite of many counter attractions and a rather bad day as to weather.

Always attractive, the dance pavilion yesterday presented a pretty scene from 2 to 4:30 o'clock when many aisles of tables were filled with interested card players.

For those not caring for cards, other contests were provided. Handsome door prizes were given at the close of the afternoon's entertainment as well as lovely awards for the games. Mrs. Harold McCulloch, Federation president, conducted the drawing, with prizes going to Miss Martha Muse, Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. H. C. Steinberger of Ellwood City, Mrs. A. W. Bergstedt, Mrs. D. M. Arnold.

Light refreshments were served by the hostesses for the afternoon, who were presidents of the various clubs, together with committee members.

Praise for the success of the event goes to Mrs. H. R. McCulloch, president Lawrence County Federation, and several committees, including: Ticket, Mrs. R. L. Boyd, chairman; Mrs. I. A. Balph, Mrs. C. Wallace-Whittaker Wedding Today In Highland Church

Highland U. P. church was a beautiful setting this morning for the wedding at 11 o'clock, of Esther Clare Wallace, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Robert L. Wallace, of Wallace avenue, to G. Ward Whittaker, son of E. E. Whittaker, of Edison avenue.

A profusion of gorgeous white peonies and orange blossoms, palms and ferns were used in the decorations, providing a most attractive background for the bridal party.

Dr. D. L. Ewing, pastor, presided over the service before a large assembly of relatives and friends, many of whom came from Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, New Brighton, and other neighboring places.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Jay L. Reed, organist played a half hour nuptial program of music. During the exchange of vows, her numbers were "I Love You Truly," and "O, Promise Me." For the processional, the favorite "Bridal Chorus" was heard, and the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" for the recessional.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was unusually attractive in her wedding gown of silk marquisette over white satin. It was fashioned redingote style, with a short train, had long sleeves and a high neckline. A finger tip veil of tulle fell from a small cap, and she carried an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley and bordia, and the bride has been feted at a round of pre-nuptial parties, at which she has received lovely gifts.

Added to these are a large collection of handsome and useful wedding presents which convey congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends.

Both young people are among New Castle's socially prominent and popular couples. Since announcement of their engagement sometime ago, the bride has been feted at a round of pre-nuptial parties, at which she has received lovely gifts.

with brown velvet ribbon and brown sandals, contrasted. They carried arm bouquets of brown eyed daisies tied with brown ribbon.

Clyde Whittaker served his brother-in-law as best man. Ushering were: Joseph Wallace, brother of the bride, Kenneth Whittaker, of Pittsburgh, a nephew of the groom, John Toner and Robert Warner, of this city.

Mrs. Robert L. Wallace, was costumed in a dusty rose lace gown with navy blue hat and sandals, and her flowers, most unusual, were navy tinted gardenias and lilies of the valley in a corsage.

The men in the bridal party were attired alike in white trousers and blue coats, with gardenia and lily of the valley boutonnières.

An informal reception and breakfast at the New Castle Field Club supplemented the wedding, after which Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker departed for an unknown destination. Upon their return, they will go to housekeeping in a newly furnished home at 228 East Sheridan avenue. The "at home" date is July first.

For travel, the new Mrs. Whittaker chose a navy sheer suit, trimmed in white, and navy accessories. Her flowers were a corsage from her bridal bouquet, white bovardia and lilies of the valley.

GOLDEN WEDDING OF F. A. HOVERS

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wiggins, of Harrisburg, are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Attorney and Mrs. F. A. Hovers, of 742 Croton avenue.

They came to help celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hovers, which will occur next Wednesday, June 23. On that day, Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins will entertain the immediate families at a dinner party in the Castleton Hotel, at 6:30 in the evening. A number of relatives from out of town are expected for the occasion.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hovers are life-long residents of this community where they have a wide circle of friends who will be glad to extend happy wishes. He has been one of New Castle's well known attorneys for a long time.

LATE ANGLES ON NEBRASKA EXPERIMENT

IT IS not strange that Nebraska, reviewing the recently recessed initial session of its experimental, one-house, nonpartisan legislature, is unable to decide whether the idea was worth the trouble.

On the balance sheet after Nebraska's new stream-lined legislature adjourned, were many things in its favor and many other things which showed no improvement over the old two-house legislature.

For instance, the 43 members of the unicameral body introduced only 570 bills in this year's session, as compared with 1042 bills introduced by the 133 members of the bicameral legislature in 1935. However, 220 laws were enacted this year, the greatest number since 1921.

The 1937 legislature cost $50,000 less than that of 1935, but its members adopted a $54,000,000 budget for the next two years, exceeding by $18,000,000 the budget set up in 1935.

Taking 98 days to complete its work, the unicameral neared the record for lengthy sessions, and disappointed its disciples who had predicted that a one-house assembly would work with greater speed.

On the credit side, the unicameral passed new rules of procedure to assure "legislation openly arrived at"; set up a planning commission to obtain detailed facts on budget needs of state institutions; paved the way for the previously rejected Federal Child Labor amendment by initiating a change which would permit voters to pass on amendments to the U. S. Constitution, and moved to shorten the state ballot.

An important point of the debate which followed the first unicameral session was that greater criticism developed over the non-party nomination and election of members than over what those members did when they got down to law making.

Democratic and Republican leaders alike protested this loss of party responsibility. Although the rolls showed a Democratic majority, it was claimed that Gov. R. L. Cochran, a Democrat, had difficulty obtaining support for his legislative plans.

This objection easily could be the stumbling block of Nebraska's noble experiment. Fortunately, there is no real evidence that America or any other free nation would fall under a political hierarchy if the familiar two-party system were abolished.

Nebraska is pioneering in uncharted governmental procedure, but there is nothing, thus far, to indicate that any insuperable hazards lie ahead. Imperfections that have already developed seem to be within the power of the people to correct. At least, the unicameral, nonpartisan plan of state law making deserves a longer trial and that, apparently, is just what the citizens of Nebraska intend to give it.

BLUE AND GRAY REUNION

Seventy-four years ago this summer, the Battle of Gettysburg was fought. In 1913—the fiftieth anniversary of the struggle—the G.
A. R. encamped on the old battlefield.

It has long been in the minds of some veterans on both sides that the seventy-fifth anniversary of the fight might bring the Blue and the Gray together there again.

No ceremony in our military history could be more touching than this meeting, could hold more poignant implications. Few battles have been subjected to more exhaustive analysis in print than the fight over the meadow, grain field, orchards and surrounding uplands at Gettysburg. Historians have had to weigh the testimony of eye-witness against eye-witness and opinion against opinion. Only in later years has a very clear picture emerged of all that took place there.

One circumstance has never been in question—that the armies were equally brave; that the stronger army won because it was the stronger and not because it was the more intrepid or gallant. Why should not equals meet once more on this hallowed ground. They should, before the old lines of Blue and Gray have entirely dwindled.

REMINDER ON THE FOURTH

A city which pioneered in the safe and sane Fourth idea found last year that safety and sanity were still far from attainment.

There were eleven arrests in that city for illegal sale, possession and discharge of fire works. Twenty serious injuries were reported.
These things occurred in spite of laws and overwhelming public sentiment against fireworks in children's hands.

Does this mean it is impossible to get away from firecrackers?
Local police in the safe and sane city and its suburbs think not. The answer, some of them say, is "constant publicity as to the hazards."

It might be added that provision of some other form of excitement as a substitute is helpful. Picnics, parades, public games and contests, public fireworks displays at parks or beaches at night, handled only by experts, should cut down the use of firecrackers by youngsters and irresponsible adults.

It is hard to say just why people have been backsliding on the safe and sane Fourth in the last few years, risking lockjaw and maiming, and disobeying ordinances, for this questionable indulgence. Perhaps they have forgotten the deaths and fires and other disasters of the old-fashioned Fourth. The situation calls for timely reminders now and prompt preparation for a better celebration.

If the meek inherit the earth, it probably won't be in Haile Selassie's time.

Nations are like individuals. When broke they feel as uncomfortable as one man.

The more people hate, says a critic, the more they talk about it.
This is especially true of baths.

Solomon must have been rich. The ordinary man can show off his wealth by dressing up only one wife.

Evidently there is no such thing as fashionable sense. Parents who talk common sense are always called old-fashioned.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN NEED PLAYGROUNDS

SUMMER BRINGS new hazards to our children and our neighbor's children. Having long hours with not much to do for days and weeks and months, children face new physical and moral dangers.

They need to have more playgrounds, and those playgrounds usually locked ought to be opened and supervised for seven days a week the year around. Why are we so willing to go on paying fabulous sums on juvenile delinquency and crime, and so miserly in our public expenditures for playgrounds properly supervised? Milwaukee is a good example of a city that has begun to tax itself for playgrounds and recreational facilities, and they have barely begun to do as much as they ought to do and will do by and by. Nevertheless, we are grateful for their noble example. We in other cities ought to be ashamed of ourselves.

Think of the thousands of children who can play out of doors
only in the crowded, dangerous streets. Even in our small cities and towns there are few playgrounds.
Our civic clubs are inclined to consider almost everything else but the welfare of the children. And when they do design to give this matter their attention, empty words are their biggest contribution, as a rule.
Often, however, it is not so much the need of more playgrounds as the availability of those that already exist. With relatively small additional cost, trained directors for these playgrounds could be had.

Use Open Spaces
In the less thickly settled areas
of our towns and cities are open spaces where ever so many children could be playing if there were concerted efforts of the parents in these areas. More fathers and mothers and young men and women of high school and college age ought to take the initiative in inducing the runabouts in their block to team up for games in the few open spaces.
Many more of these spaces could be rendered fit for play places if a number of the citizens near would band together and do some work on these spaces themselves, or contribute funds to have such work done.

Then for the younger children
there could be fitted out play places with play equipment—home-made,
or purchased from a small sum collected from those living near. Here and there one sees equipment set up in a back yard or on an adjoining vacant lot by an interested father who has in mind not only a play place for his own children but also a means for attracting playmates in order to further the best social education of his own children, where proper adult supervision can be effected.

Yet there are ever so many children within easy access to safe play places who will run without restraint higher and yonder over their people's lawns and in the streets for blocks around. They obviously need better parental guidance for their own sakes as well as for the protection of the neighbors.

All Of Us

"MY OLD DELICIOUS BURDENS"

I find myself reading Walt Whit-man's "Song of the Open Road."
It flows so easily, so naturally, that I—who but a moment ago was thinking grumpily of a chore I had to do—follow it from line to line with joy.

"Afoot and light-hearted I take to the open road,
Healthy, free, the world before me,
The long brown path before me
leading wherever I choose,
Henceforth I ask not good fortune,
I myself am good fortune.

Henceforth I am good fortune,
Henceforth I am good fortune,
I postpone no more, to morrow
I will begin to travel—
Down the road
Which my own hand has made,
For all my cares, I travel the open road."

(But, Walt, there are some who may not take the open road. For they are not free to wander as you were free. But then come these four lines—)

"Still here I carry my old delicious
burdens,
I carry them, men and women,
I carry them with me wherever
I go,
I swear it is impossible for me to get rid of them,
I am filled with them, and I will fill them in return."

And now I see that Walt Whitman was running away from no responsibility on the open road. It was open to him because he carried his duties with him and did not ask to be rid of them. He called them "my old delicious burdens"
and reminds you and me that a burden need not be an impediment or a drag on our lives.

If we look upon it as Whitman
did as "an old delicious burden"— one to be carried joyfully—and therefore lightly—then all is changed and we, too, are changed. It is no burden for the mother to carry her beloved child. It is no burden for the husband and father, happy in marriage and fatherhood, to work and earn and guard his family. It is no burden for any man to live and work and carry the load that is every man's part through life. It is no load for anybody to be all and everything that becomes a man or woman. These are the "old delicious burdens" that give meaning and beauty to living. They can never be menial. The profoundest unhappiness I found only by those who have shouldered no burdens at all, but carry the grievous weight of loneliness and insignificance.

There are two kinds of workers:
those who think the Social Security Act a great blessing, and those who understand it.

"Do you make any reduction to clergymen?" she asked softly.

"Certainly, madam," said the stationer with great promptness. "Are you a clergyman's wife?"

"No," replied the young lady.

"Ah! a clergyman's daughter?"
suggested the shopman.

"No—no," was the young lady's hesitating reply. Then she leaned across the counter and spoke in a confidential whisper. "But if nothing happens, I shall soon be engaged to a seminary student."

A lot of ginks use their automobile horns for door bells. It seems too much of a job to get out of the

the horn is right under the snout.

YOU'VE WON ANYHOW
What if you come out first or second?
In the race that you have run?
If you put your best in playing
In the final score, you've won.

If you kept the basket before you,
And played the game, five men defense.
While another carried off the prize
By tactics not quite fair.

You've won the greater battle
When you played the game fair
and right;
Although another shot at the basket.
You really won the fight.

Just keep your standard flying,
And don't give up the game,
The first place, with honor
Beats any team, with shame.

ONCE AGAIN the vacation season is here and once more the advantages of your own North American continent as the ideal area in which to spend that vacation—and the money which you have, we hope,
saved for it—must be emphasized.

This summer, like so many other recent years, finds Europe in a troubled state, alternately swaying toward general warfare and a continued but uneasy peace.

Spain, of course, is out because you couldn't get in—even if you were foolish enough to try. And the remainder of Europe is no place to go if you desire to escape from labor troubles, politics and general unrest. In this respect, compared to some European countries, America is as tranquil as a moonlit pool
in the Adirondacks.

Incidentally, have you been in the Adirondacks? Or the Rockies? Or the Alleghenies, Poconos, Appalachian, Big Smoky, Blue Ridge, Catskill or White mountains?

Nature didn't do so badly with America in handing out mountain scenery as a short trip—at not too great expense—would prove to you.

Perhaps mountains are not your meat—then America can give you on both coasts and along the inland seas some of the finest beaches found on this globe.

From Maine to Miami, Fla., stretching an almost continuous chain of beaches which enthrall
and delight the European visitor.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NO "HOT AIR," EH WHAT?

Hot air is being banished from the halls of Congress.

That may be taken any way you choose, but in this instance, it is not meant to be political, or even profound government philosophy. It is literally true.

The chambers in which our representatives do their fulminating
are being air-conditioned!

What effect this may have on future legislation has not been determined. But one thing is certain.
Laws won't be passed in the heat of the moment.

Seriously, this air-conditioning thing is not the trifling development our engineers have made it seem with their easy grasp of the astounding implements of modern technology.

It is unquestionably a milepost in man's struggle to conquer his environment, a struggle older than King Tut's tomb. And although air-conditioning has been going on now for four or five years, it is just beginning to become the property of the general public.

Thus far the average man's acquaintance with man-made coolness in mid-summer heat has been in a few ultra-modern buildings, or perhaps on the trains. The phenomenon was first perfected by the railroads, and for the past two years has been possible for a Californian to get on any trans-continental line
and travel to New York in weather that's like early spring all the way.

The thing is a milepost in economics, too. For it is an example of opening new markets for industry
after all geographical frontiers are gone, in the only way that is left—creating new desires, and new necessities.

TO LAUNCH OPEN AIR SERVICES AT CASCADE

Park Services Opening Sunday

Many Churches Combining In Sunday Evening Services Of Summer

DR. FERGUSON IS INITIAL SPEAKER

The first of the outdoor services sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association will take place at Cascade Park on Sunday evening. A fine program has been arranged by Rev. D. L. Ferguson, D. D., pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church, who is to preach the sermon.

Musical Prelude
Preceding the service, which opens at 7 o'clock, there will be a fifteen-minute period of music by a brass quartet composed of Alfred Sadler, Jr., trumpet, David Cramer, trumpet, Arthur Gorman, cornet and Tom Cramer, trombone.

Tomorrow evening these young men, who are among the finest players of brass instruments in the city, will offer the following program, beginning at 6:45:
Now the Day Is Over—Barney March Pontifical—Gounod.
The Lost Chord—Sullivan.

As a special number during the service they will play "Deep River." At the close of the service every Sunday evening they will play a postlude. The ministerial association believes the brass quartet will add greatly to the attractiveness of the programs.

Choir And Highlanders
Special music has been prepared also by Prof. R. E. Johns, music director of Highland church, and will consist of a selection by the choir and a selection by the Highlanders Male Quartet, members of which are Mr. Johns, Leonard Kisthart, Jay Jarrell and D. L. Ferguson. The choir will lead in the singing of a number of congregational numbers.

Dr. Ferguson, one of the leading ministers of the city, will have charge of the service and will deliver the message of the evening. He has chosen for his subject, "He Followeth Not With Us." Those who have heard Dr. Ferguson speak before look forward to enjoying this sermon which will be thoughtful and enjoyable.

Solve Weather Problem
The meetings, no matter what the weather may be, will be held in Cascade Park. If possible they will be at the bandstand; if not, through the kindness of J. B. Biondi the dancing pavilion has been granted.

Music books used during the services will be the same used by the National Preaching Mission.

Other members of the ministerial association will assist the Highland pastor with the service. The ushering will be done by the young men of Highland U. P. church.

Babies' Night At Central Christian

First Of Two Unique Sunday Evening Services Is Announced

It has been necessary to change the time of the service from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, inasmuch as the pictures cannot be shown until it gets dark.

The sermon subject for June 27 is, "Padlocks of the Soul." A large display of padlocks has been planned to persons bringing to the church the largest, smallest, the oldest, the rustiest, the prettiest and the most odd lock, not later than 6:30 that evening. All padlocks will be returned to the owners at the close of the service.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

STATE FLOWER

Do you know that the mountain laurel is Pennsylvania's state flower? Laurel time in the Pocono region each year attracts thousands of people. Beginning about June 15 and continuing for a period of about two weeks, the hills and valleys of the Poconos are bedecked with lavish displays of pink-tinted laurel. This year there will be no crowning of a laurel queen; instead there will be a dozen or more special events at various vacation centers in the Poconos during the laurel blossoming season. The Monroe county Chamber of Commerce, Stroudsburg, Pa., shall answer inquiries concerning these events.

Practically every section of Pennsylvania where there are forest areas has its stands of laurel. Following the season in the Poconos, these blooms appear in lavish display in Cook Forest. Many miles of motor and hiking trails have been marked for the benefit of motorists leaving Brookville, Jefferson county.

He will sing some of the hymns he composed and will relate the story of his life, and the incidents which had given him thought for "A Heart Like Thine" and other of his well known compositions.

Mr. Van De Venter will be accompanied in his singing by his wife who is also an accomplished musician.

Mr. Van De Venter at one time taught drawing in the public schools of Sharon and he has many friends there. He and his wife will be guests during their stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. DeForeest, in Sharon, and Mr. Van De Venter will speak in the morning at the First Methodist church there.

Large Class Will Unite With Church
Reception of new members will take place Sunday morning at the First Pentecostal church and a large class is prepared to unite with the congregation.

In the evening a water baptismal service will take place. Rev. Boston W. Turner, pastor, will deliver special sermons appropriate to the spirit of the occasion.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles, defending champion, won his fourth round match of the National play courts tennis tournament at Chicago, Friday, defeating William Murphy of Chicago, 6-4, 7-5. Joe Hunt, also of Los Angeles, who will team with Riggs in the doubles, also advanced in the singles competition, downing Vernon Marcum, Lakeland, Fla., 6-1, 6-4.

Approximately 600 athletics competed today in the Irish day festivities at Kenwood Park, Pittsburgh. The proclivities were held under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Frank Jerry of this city was a participant in the Marathon race. The result of the race is not known here yet.

Barney Oldfield, former auto racer, today reported he has been advised by authorities of Needles, Cal., that his former manager, Ernest A. Moros of Mosherville, Mich., is mysteriously missing on the desert near Needles. Moros was prospecting. Oldfield was told Moros left his camp late Thursday night and disappeared.

The Cards moved up a game and a half behind the Giants by trimming MacFayden and the Bees, 5-2, behind Bob Weiland.

There were only two games in the American League. The Indians dropped their fourth straight and in so doing dropped out of the first division. The Red Sox moved up behind Dellandrea's pinch hit.

The Browns trimmed the Senators 6-0 for their first shutout of the year. Oral Hildebrand held the Senators to two hits, a feat which must have startled old Rajah Hornsby who has grown used to seeing his pitchers walloped by everybody.

The death of young Donald Reed, 17, of New Wilmington, in a Pittsburgh hospital from serious injuries sustained when a truck he was riding upset near Wexford, Pa., on the Perry Highway, was a distinct shock to his many friends throughout the country.

He played a forward position on the East Brook High varsity basketball team last year and was a very popular student and well liked by everybody.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reed, of New Wilmington. The late Donald was a member of the Rich Hill church.

Neither, apparently, gives a thought to the possibility of the other contestants winning. In their judgment, Gene Venke, Luigi Becalli and Don Lash will be running for the place if they feel so inclined.

This, too, despite the fact that Becalli, Venke and Lash all have won races well under 4:10, and a runner capable of such speed might be expected to make a gambling chance of doing it.

Becalli has not been able to recapture the speed that made him the 1500-meter Olympic champion in 1928. Venke has trailed Cunningham so often it has become a habit.

Lash, well, Lash must be figured the dark horse of the race. Nobody knows what the Indiana flyer may do. Once he starts he lets his feet do his thinking as well as his running. He may set a blistering pace or he may lag far behind.

Carl Hubbell Chased Again

Reds Chase Celebrated "Dipsydw" Hubbell And Win Game 5 To 3

INDIANS DROP FOURTH STRAIGHT

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 19.—No little part of Bill Terry's success as manager of the Giants is due to the fact that Carl Hubbell has been his prize meal ticket for several years.

But today Terry must be wondering if Hubbell is to become the Giants for Hubbell has been driven to the showers in his last six starts.

Carl tried to stop the lowly Reds yesterday but before the third inning was over he was on his way out and the Reds eased in behind Lefty Lee Grissom's five-hit pitching, 5-3.

Cubs Increase Lead

The Cubs increased their lead on the New Yorkers by trimming the Phils, who made five errors, with a 3-run spurn in the ninth, the final count being 8-7. Augie Galan's triple with the bases loaded was the pay-off punch.

Four errors paved the way for Van Mungo's defeat and the Pirates downed the Dodgers, 6-4. The Pirates scored their last two runs on a wild throw by Bucher.

The Cards moved up a game and a half behind the Giants by trimming MacFayden and the Bees, 5-2, behind Bob Weiland.

Neither, apparently, gives a thought to the possibility of the other contestants winning. In their judgment, Gene Venke, Luigi Becalli and Don Lash will be running for the place if they feel so inclined.

This, too, despite the fact that Becalli, Venke and Lash all have won races well under 4:10, and a runner capable of such speed might be expected to make a gambling chance of doing it.

Becalli has not been able to recapture the speed that made him the 1500-meter Olympic champion in 1928. Venke has trailed Cunningham so often it has become a habit.

Lash, well, Lash must be figured the dark horse of the race. Nobody knows what the Indiana flyer may do. Once he starts he lets his feet do his thinking as well as his running. He may set a blistering pace or he may lag far behind.

TRAILER?

A tourist saw a sign outside a hotel which read, "Free Garage." He decided to stay over night, and put his car in the garage. On leaving for a stroll he was approached by the attendant, who asked him what accommodation he required. "Oh—er—none, thank you," he replied, "I'm sleeping in the car."

NEW YORK, June 19.—The stock market today settled into a narrow and quiet trading range after two days of recovery. Plus signs were slightly in the majority.

The unsettled steel strike acted as a damper on speculative activity. The list displayed a generally firm tone at the start, but encountered light selling later. Gains were cut to a minimum and a number of pivotal issues dropped below previous closing levels.

Chrysler opened at 102 on a 1,000-share block for an overnight gain of 1 1/2 points. This was reduced to a small fraction later. General Motors lost a little ground. Other motor shares were steady to slightly higher.

U. S. Steel converted an early gain into a fractional loss, with Republic turning in a similar performance. Bethlehem and Youngstown held small gains.

Rail shares drifted irregularly lower. N. Y. Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and Northern Pacific slipped fractionally. Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Pennsylvania resisted selling to some extent.

Easier tendencies prevailed in metals, where American Smelting, Anaconda and Kennecott sustained modest losses. Rubbers, aviation and merchandise shares were mixed. Oils and utilities were steady.

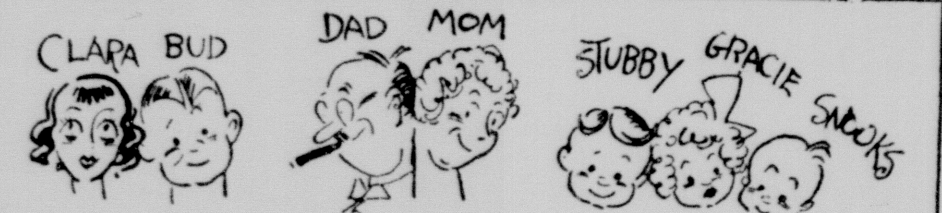

Bonds were firm. Grains eased, but cotton was steady.

Rubeis Outpitches Bishara
In Exciting League
Game Friday

RADS NEARER TO
PENNANT TITLE

Getting to the great Norman Bishara for eight bingles, the National Radiator team defeated Nobils, 6-3, at Gaston Park, Friday night, for its twelfth straight victory. In the twelfth straight victory, the Rads moved closer to the first half pennant title of the City Softball League.

Those several hundred fans who occupied every imaginable space at Gaston Park, were treated to one of the most exciting ball games of the year. Thrills were galore as the two clubs battled furiously for victory. In the opening frame, the Rads bounced on the fans' Bishara for a lone tally. For two chapters, Irv Rubeis, Rads' hurler, went along smoothly until the third when the Nobs crossed the plate for three runs.

Bishara was doing nicely until the fifth when a couple of hits and several misuses by the Nobils fielders, resulted in three runs for the league leaders. For good count, the Rads pushed over two more runs in the sixth.

Bishara had but two strike-outs while Rubeis turned back three batters. Bishara walked two while Rubeis was generous, issuing five free tickets to first. Nickie Ross, Eddie Hilton, John Teplica and Jackie Jones had two hits apiece. Bishara received poor support, his teammates collecting seven errors. Austin Cowmeadow, Rads' third sacker, was the fielding sensation.

If the Rads topple West Pittsburgh Monday night, they will win the first half pennant race.

Game

The K. Pulaski team defeated the Colored Elks at the Glasser Field last night in a postponed league game 10 to 4. Cab' Mrozek held the Elks to five hits. He was never in danger.

The Pulaskis hopped on Homer Gray for seven hits. Two costly errors by the Elks gave the Pulaskis several of their runs. The Pulaskis clubbed out seven runs to put the game on ice in the final half of the sixth inning.

Extra-base bangers were hit by Johnny Soho and Dennison. The victory was the seventh for Manager "Lefty" Maslyk and his Pulaskis team. Quite a big crowd witnessed the game.

Col. Janeway
Is Dictator
At Johnstown

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 19.—Col. A. S. Janeway today became a virtual "dictator" over the Johnstown strike area through Gov. George H. Earle's edict proclaiming martial law.

Colonel Janeway was given complete military command over the Johnstown area and will have at his command a force of more than 500 state policemen and highway patrolmen.

If necessary, Janeway will have the power, according to Governor Earle, to dissolve Johnstown's local police force.

He has been the chief executive's "emergency" man ever since he was drafted into the state's service in 1935 when he became deputy adjutant in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

During the March floods of 1936 and spring floods of 1937, Colonel Janeway supervised the state's relief work, coordinating all agencies to carry out the rehabilitation and emergency program.

He is now director of the general state authority, created to administer a $60,000,000 institutional building program.

Playboy Wastes As People Want

Spends $500 On Phone Calls To European Resort To Hear Orchestra
Play

WAITERS SERVE
ON EMPTY STOMACH

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 19.—In one of those plays as aloof and polite as a private lake this winter I saw a chaise longue which was the only piece of household furniture I ever coveted. Enormously long, low hung deeply cushioned, it swept up into a swirl of majestic gilt headboard that spelt grandeur.

O. O. McIntyre

The play was nothing, but I went back three times to see what after all, shucked off of pretty language, was just a beautiful big divan. I found it belonged to a famous collector was rented, and the sale price was prohibitive. So I had a copyist, with the owners consent, turn out a cheaper version.

It came this morning. And, all day I've tried to be languid, stretching out on it in my purple house robe from Charvet in Place Vendôme, aching to look pale and interesting. And hoping somebody would drop in. I'd like to impress so I could stretch forth a wan hand and murmur, "So good of you, really."

I'd like also to have long wavy locks to trickle my fingers through. But that's all. There's scarcely a thin skin left. I have a morbid admiration for sickly languor. I've often longed to be a sort of he-Camille, but the recuperate from the it was to recuperate from the mumps on gramma's horse hair sofa.

It may be—and likely is—a press agent drawing a long bow, but I have several times read of a notorious playboy calling up a dizzy night club from a French seaside resort to hear the orchestra play his favorite tune. Such idiocies bring out vandalism for a waste to display that sort of $500 extravagance makes me want to burn down the night club and serve as the No. 1 whipping boy.

I've wondered at times when the head waiter of a high class cafe, one who gives intimate service, dines. The other night I questioned Bernard, celebrated among gourmets. I learn it is a custom for such experts to eat after all patrons have been served for the night. The psychology is simple, but obvious. The head-waiter, to be enthusiastic must have a razor edge to his appetite so he can appropriately and resistibly oo-la-la as he lifts the silver lids from this dish and that. The great Vatel once said: "No cook or waiter can expertly serve the hungry with a well fed stomach."

Newspapermen are generally pleased that M. H. Aylesworth, the radio chieftain, has become a member of the clan. Most reporters spell his widely known nick-name "Deke" which is error. It is Dece—short for Deacon—a frequent sobriquet for a clergyman's son. Aylesworth has always since his rise in radio been paria to newspapermen. His closest friend is Kent Cooper the A. P. chieftain, and he has long been a crony of Roy Howard and Bill Hawkins with whom he is now associated. An unsmiling glum looking fellow, he has a dry sense of humor that crackles unexpectedly. He began his career as a lawyer in a small Colorado town.

Until comparatively recent years I never heard of arthritis. But today many interesting correspondents are arthritis victims. Bored by idleness, they write to lessen the tedium. Much in the manner of the retired British Army officer writing to The London Times. There must be compensation too, in arthritis. One arthritic writes a letter today wrote: "I no longer rebel against a universe in perpetual change. I simply treat water and let the mad waves roll on. I read my books as those fortunate did when there was leisure in the world, when one could pay a visit to a poem or stay a week-end in tae."

I know of no one so nimble on his banquet feet as George Jessel, unless it is Bugs Baer. It all depends upon which one I heard last. If it is Jessel, I think he has the top honors and if it is Baer, ditto. They are certainly the best since Francis Patrick Murphy. And there is no one who when called upon to do a bit of ad libbing at a banquet, can perform more expertly than Al Johnson. More than anyone of his time he can catch the mood of the crowd and make it lie down, sit up and play dead. He is far better in such emergencies, in my opinion, than ever he is over the radio, or on the screen and stage. There is a fusion of great artistry in Johnson when he lets himself go before a small and appreciative audience. And at other times he will appear hopelessly mawkish.

I was thinking today that, come the revolution, I'd like to ride to the guillotine in the same tumbly with somebody who expressed the placidity and magnificent austerity of Chief Justice Hughes. Somehow, I don't imagine I'd go to the guillotine well, but one simply couldn't moan and wring his hands in the presence of such dignity.

The June term of criminal court is over and as a session of trials it turned out to be slim picking. Only one case of any magnitude was tried, that against Anthony Naples.

The rest, what few were tried, were for minor cases, and the balance of the 43 cases were disposed of by pleas.

The case against Sam DeFelle, charged with getting relief under false pretense, was squashed because the foreman of the grand jury, George C. McBride, forgot to sign the back sheet showing the witnesses subpoenaed.

The court asked the motion. Quashing an indictment does not dispose of a case finally as new information can be laid and the defendant re-arrested.

Attorney Frank O. Moretti received the congratulations of his brother attorneys around the court house on Friday. Defending Carmen Scarazzo of Beaver county in the Beaver county courts on a charge of murder Mr. Moretti won a verdict of acquittal. This is the second acquittal verdict in as many cases, he having defended Rocco Esposito in Lawrence county court in March.

Tuesday, June 22, has been set as sentence court and from the appearance it will be a heavy list of prisoners that face the court. There will probably be about 40 sentences to hand down which will mean that most of the day will be taken up.

Arthur Massaro, charged with having liquor on the premises where a beer license was in force, was found guilty by the jury trying him.

The music went "round and round" in court room number two before Judge W. Walter Brannan, Friday. The case was that against J. W. Burnside for failure to pay the state amusement tax on a nickel music box. The case was tried before the court only, no jury being called.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McMorran entertained 26 Gleaner members at their home on Monday evening at a strawberry and ice cream supper.

Most of these so-called "royalists" are anti-New Dealers. The inquiry has possibilities of stirring up a lot of popular sentiment against them. They won't be convicted of anything to go to jail for, but perhaps they'll be "smeared" very disagreeably.

The effect, if any, will be political.

ADVERTISING
This kind of thing, however, requires advertising.

An investigation, purely for congressional enlightenment, can be made an extremely tiresome affair—a mere maze of figures, understandable only to a few experts.

That's been the trouble with Senator Burton K. Wheeler's railroad probe. It has uncovered a perfectly outrageous system of the most enormous proportions, but its intricacies have been such as to be incomprehensible to the average individual, and consequently uninteresting to him.

Good advertising has to be simple.

MORGAN'S CASE
I've already had occasion to remark that, in a certain way, when I paid an income tax, J. P. Morgan didn't.

Such a revelation is simplicity itself. Automatically it tells its own story to every petty income taxpayer. It's as easily understandable as, "Buy so-and-so cigars! They check falling-of-the-hair and cure indigestion and bunions!"

But the disclosure concerning "J. P." was a mere accident—a by-product of the Pecora banking-and-currency investigation.

WIDE OPEN

Nevertheless, the "royalists" have got to be mentioned, and coerced into explaining how they did it. Publicity is the nub of this investigation.

Income tax returns are supposed to be confidential, but here's a case where they are not going to be. A congressional committee can do almost anything.

PUBLIC?
Far be it from me to oppose the "panning" of tax evaders by a congressional committee.

I hope it will be as public as possible. And it will be public, or it will be very conspicuously a hush-hush affair.

Let's see. Will the hush-hushers predominate? Or shall we get some real information?

Tax Evaders To Get Little Mercy

So-called "Economic Royalists" Are In For Tough Time In Future

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The joint congressional committee on investigation of President Roosevelt's charges of income tax evasions by "economic royalists" is forced to proceed with all possible publicity.

If that inquiry isn't fully publicized, it will be of no particular value to anyone.

Theoretically the quiz's purpose is to inform congress as to the best methods of plugging up holes in the income tax law as to prevent "economic royalists" from circumventing it, more or less, by technically legal means. They are not accused of punishable dodging. The complaint is that the law is not strict enough to keep them from dodging unpunishably.

This isn't quite the sum total of the complaint's purpose, however.

TO BE SMEARED
Supposedly the inquiry's aim is to show the legislators how to make the law air-tight, that ALL evasions may be made punishable.

That, indeed, may be the investigation's prime objective.

But, incidentally, the idea is to make matters mightily unpleasant for the "economic royalists" who, the president asserts, have done the legal evading.

Most of these so-called "royalists" are anti-New Dealers. The inquiry has possibilities of stirring up a lot of popular sentiment against them. They won't be convicted of anything to go to jail for, but perhaps they'll be "smeared" very disagreeably.

The effect, if any, will be political.

ADVERTISING
This kind of thing, however, requires advertising.

An investigation, purely for congressional enlightenment, can be made an extremely tiresome affair—a mere maze of figures, understandable only to a few experts.

That's been the trouble with Senator Burton K. Wheeler's railroad probe. It has uncovered a perfectly outrageous system of the most enormous proportions, but its intricacies have been such as to be incomprehensible to the average individual, and consequently uninteresting to him.

Good advertising has to be simple.

MORGAN'S CASE
I've already had occasion to remark that, in a certain way, when I paid an income tax, J. P. Morgan didn't.

Such a revelation is simplicity itself. Automatically it tells its own story to every petty income taxpayer. It's as easily understandable as, "Buy so-and-so cigars! They check falling-of-the-hair and cure indigestion and bunions!"

But the disclosure concerning "J. P." was a mere accident—a by-product of the Pecora banking-and-currency investigation.

WIDE OPEN

Nevertheless, the "royalists" have got to be mentioned, and coerced into explaining how they did it. Publicity is the nub of this investigation.

Income tax returns are supposed to be confidential, but here's a case where they are not going to be. A congressional committee can do almost anything.
